Endosurgery 2020

Theme: “Mechanism of Mishaps and Risk Reduction Strategies”
Part II

Accumulated wisdom of Three decades to make Laparoscopic / endoscopic surgery safe

April 17 - 18, 2020 | Pullman, Aerocity, New Delhi
Dear Friends,

It is our pleasure to extend to you a warm invitation for our upcoming Congress "Endosurgery 2020", Part II: Mechanism of Mishaps and risk reduction strategies on 17-18 April, 2020 at New Delhi, India.

"Endosurgery 2005", Part I of the same themed congress was organized fifteen years back in New Delhi, India. This is our second attempt to assimilate accumulated wisdom of three decades to make minimal access surgery even safer!

Minimal access surgical techniques have revolutionized surgical practice the world over. India witnessed this revolution three decades back which spread with a lot of enthusiasm across many surgical specialties. Many innovations and developments have taken place in the last three decades in terms of equipments, instruments and skills that have benefitted clinical outcomes. The Indian surgical fraternity has been at the forefront of this remarkable revolution in surgery.

'Endosurgery 2005' Part I proved to be an epochal event where many surgeons going through the learning curve of laparoscopic surgery training were present. They were immensely awed and benefitted to hear and watch experienced surgeons discussing their mishaps and management strategies to combat them.

Today, after three decades of Minimal access surgery, we are much more experienced, safer and better surgeons. We are delighted to present Part II of this event, 'Endosurgery 2020' at Pullman Hotel, New Delhi, India on 17-18 April, 2020.

Our theme and focus will remain the same as in 2005. However the key take home messages would provide more insights and gravitas. The Congress will primarily be based on the Indian experience with accumulated wisdom of experts of more than 3 decades to make endosurgery safe. All sessions will be video based with extremely clear cut take away messages that will benefit the entire community. This Congress is likely to be a transformational educational experience for surgeons of different specialties practicing minimal access surgery.

We are confident to present a very balanced approach and provide a scientific forum with interactive exchange of state-of-the-art knowledge. Video presentations will be the norm during the Congress and all learning/ discussion would be centered on actual patient scenarios.

The conference venue is Hotel Pullman at Aerocity in New Delhi in close proximity to the airport and well connected to both New Delhi and Gurgaon.

We look forward to welcoming you all to Endosurgery 2020, a conference that all practitioners of minimal access surgery would find hard to miss!
